LEAGUE RESULTS AFTER RACE 3

Note:

- Race 1 was the first race of the series, it was short and very fast, with lots of bunch dynamics. For these reasons the category limits were not strictly enforced other than those that were over 1watt/kg over the limit, they were moved up.
- Race 2 was a good representation of a participants FTP (race taking 40-50mins for majority and less of a bunch effect due to hills) and thus that is why people were asked to race in that category from that point on.
- From Race 3 on we will have a small tolerance of 0.2 watts/kg due to the fact races take between 40-55(ish) minutes (depending on your category) and thus people may inadvertently ride slightly over their FTP (FTP is the power you can hold for an hour)
- The majority of people raced in the correct category, there were fewer than 10 who needed to be moved up and most of these were first timers to the league. Those that ignored the request last week to race in the correct category (less than 3) were moved up to the correct category again, this will continue to happen to ensure fair racing in the lower categories.
- Those that did not have a power meter or smart trainer have been relegated to 4th in individual races if they came in a podium position (as per rules)
- Any result queries please email anna.russell@triathlon.kiwi
- Remember this is a fun race series where main prizes are given away as spot prizes

FAQs:

- Why am I not listed in the results? Did you register before the race? Make sure you register here: https://trinz.typeform.com/to/P6oCqt
- Why are my points totals not adding up to what I think it should based on my placings? This may be because on the odd occasion someone has forgotten to register or accidentally entered the wrong category. After the race their result has been put into the right category based on their time, this may change the points.
- Why have you given an 0.2w/kg tolerance? as per above this is because the races are slightly shorter than the amount of time that gives you your FTP number (60mins). This is also because if someone has been within their category limit for most of the races and then in one race is slightly above it may not be fair to go back and change their entire race series to a different category, this becomes more obvious as the series progresses. For example Jane races in Cat B, she has stayed at 3.8w/kg for 5 out of the 6 races, then in the last race she gets in a good bunch and pushes herself and races at 4.1w/kg, we would allow her to remain in Cat B rather than change all her previous races to Cat A.
- I raced within the tolerance but you've moved me up a category This is because you raced in the incorrect category based on your Race 2 result. For example Jane raced Race 2 in Cat B but raced at 4.4w/kg, her result was changed to Cat A, she then raced Race 3 again in Cat B and raced at 4w/kg (within tolerance but outside Cat limit), she has been moved up.
- Why don't you just have everyone go on ZwiftPower this would be a great solution but unfortunately not everyone has been able to get their hands on a smart trainer and thus is using a dumb trainer set up. We believe it is fair to include these results even though they may not get on the podium in individual races due to the rules.
- Why don't we have separate male and female categories in hindsight this would have been a much better idea and if we ran an event in the future we would have separate female categories. It is too late now though for this series as female podium category place getters would lose their points when all females get put together.
- Why don't you just ditch the categories all together we would probably do this in the future but when planning the event we thought it would be nice to be able to celebrate results for those in our lower categories who would get lost in the results if everyone was together.
- Why isn't this perfect Good question! I would love this to be a perfect race series but unfortunately there is a lot of manual work to ensure the fairest results we can, include as many people as we can, and work within the constraints of Zwift. If you have a great way to make this perfect shoot anna.russell@triathlon.kiwi an email and she will send you through her results spreadsheet to validate and improve.
